For the first time ever, this recording brings together the traditional Round Dance songs of Oklahoma in a single collection. The songs heard on this recording belong to the traditional group of Round dance songs that the Kiowa people receive through their alliance and friendship with the people of Taos Pueblo. Many of the songs in this collection have not been shared outside of Oklahoma. They have been presented here with the encouragement of elder singers in order that they may be shared with future generations. Sung by some of the greatest young voices of the Southern Plains, these beautiful songs have stood the test of time and are destined to live on for generations to come. 15 songs including songs learned from the late Leonard Cozad Sr, Ralph Kotay, Ernest Redbird Sr, Joe Cozad, and James Chasenah.
